Depression, anxiety, and related problems in young women. This study of women aged 16-25 years was undertaken to evaluate the prevalence and persistence of clinical depression, anxiety, and related problems, and to identify the constellation of symptoms and problems in the young adult that may be the source of stress. Subjects were identified from the membership of the Northwest School of Social Work. Of the 600 women screened for inclusion in the study, 100 were randomly selected for an initial face-to-face interview. Of the 50 subjects available for follow-up interviews, 28 of the original sample were re-interviewed after an average of 28 months. An Anxiety Symptom Checklist, a Depression
